This season, no matter what holiday brings you together, your family will probably host a gathering. Most holiday family gatherings involve an extended meal, long conversations and often television watching. November is a great time to remind loved ones to get their eyes checked. It's easy to fill family gatherings with small talk and the latest news, but why not take a different approach as you eat together or sit down to watch a football game? If you have eye disease in your family, take the time to encourage younger family members to have a comprehensive eye exam to check for degenerative eye disease.

American Diabetes Month takes place each November. Please join us on Tuesday, November 17, 2015 for the Annual Eddie Washington Diabetes Awareness Forum. The forum will take place at Park Place from 9:00 a.m. to Noon.

Join us on Tuesday, December 1, 2015 10:00 am for the seminar: Know the 10 Signs: Early Detection Matters. Hear from people who have the disease and find out how to recognize the signs in yourself and others.

Forget, "I've fallen and I can't get up!" These days, adults 55 and better have access to technology that is light years beyond the old Life Alert bracelets.
